MAPEI North America EHS Policy

Environmental, Health and Safety: a commitment, many opportunities

MAPEI believes that innovation, competitiveness, health and safety compliance, environmental sustainability and social responsibility represent the key elements of a company’s success. These values are essential in building confidence and in distinguishing a company in its commitment to offer to interested parties, products that contribute to improving the quality of life. MAPEI practices the international principles of Responsible Care which aim to value chemical companies as promoters of opportunities for global society. Based on the central elements of its code of ethics, MAPEI is committed to develop its business through the following guiding principles:

- Consider health and safety in the workplace as a fundamental right of employees;
- Develop and implement a safety and health management system in support of preventing injury and ill health;
- Develop, implement, and continually improve an environmental management system in support of pollution prevention, minimization of environmental impacts and waste, and effective use of resources with regards to its activities, products, and services;
- Continually improve the environmental, health, and safety knowledge and performance of our technologies, processes, and products over their life cycle as to avoid harm to people and protect the environment;
- Cooperate with governments and organizations in the development and implementation of effective regulations and standards which includes the commitment to fulfill its compliance obligations;
- Provide help and advice to foster the responsible management of raw materials and MAPEI products by all those who manage and use them along the product chain life cycle;
- Communicate our policy using information activities, training sessions and awareness campaigns to employees, unions, customers, suppliers, and where appropriate any other interested parties;
- Use technologies and processes that are "clean and safe" in the construction of new plants, and updating existing plants when reasonably possible;
- Report openly to interested parties on environmental achievements related to the management of environmental significant aspects by communicating its corresponding objectives and performance;
- Listen, engage, and work with interested parties to understand and address their issues and expectations;
- Operate in accordance with these principles in all countries in which the company’s business is conducted;
- Require the sharing and resolute application of our principles from all employees.
